TIME LIMIT FOR PRESENTING A TRIBUNAL CLAIM

Midnight, Thursday 3 September 2026

Form ET1 must be presented at www.gov.uk/employment-tribunals/make-a-claim by this time. If your claim is not presented by then, the Employment Tribunal may refuse to hear it, even if there is otherwise a good reason for the delay.

How this date is calculated. The primary time limit under section 111(2) of the Employment Rights Act 1996 is three months less one day from the effective date of termination (EDT). Where Acas was contacted before the primary time limit began to run, section 207B(3)–(4) of the Employment Rights Act 1996 only operates to extend that primary time limit; it cannot bring it forward.

Statutory statement. This certificate constitutes proof, for the purposes of regulation 6 of the Employment Tribunals (Early Conciliation, Exemptions and Rules of Procedure) Regulations 2014 (as amended), that the prospective claimant has complied with the requirement to contact Acas before instituting tribunal proceedings against the prospective respondent.

What to do with this certificate

Quote the Acas reference number above when completing your ET1. If you submit your claim online, you will be asked to enter the reference number; if you submit by post, you should attach a copy of this certificate to your claim form. Keep the original certificate safe.

If you wish to discuss this certificate

Please contact the conciliator named above via the Acas helpline (0300 123 1100), quoting the reference number. Acas cannot extend the time limit for presenting a tribunal claim, but can provide further information about the next steps.
